Well Trevor,
THE years over.
I can't believe it one guess it's been have been (closer friends) maybe next year. I think we could wonder what would have happened if we had gone out. It would have been fun. Maybe some other time. Do know seriously I'm really glad your going to be here next year. It wouldn't be same without ya.
Happy Birthday. You'll have to drive over this summer. I hope we can get together.
Give me a call
Wherever you want.
I'll miss ya this summer.
Have fun
love ya

Trevor,
Even though we joke around and tease each other, I know we're still friends. I'm glad you're not going to Boarding School because it wouldn't be the same without you. I'll probly see you in the summer - but if I don't, have a good one and I'll see you in German IV (I hope!

I am writing this... I don't even like you. I hope you fail your drivers course

:)

Trevor,
Hi! This year has been really fun! I hope next year will be even better. Well! HAPPY Birthday! I can't believe your 16 yrs. old. This summer you'll have to drive over & we can go do somethin'. Well, I think you are really nice & sweet! Not Bad lookin' either -> You're a good friend & fun to be around! Don't let this go to your head though. I hope you have a great summer. (Be good!)

Have a good time with Jennifer -> you know those things I said before I was only joking. She's really nice.)

Have a great time partying & remember all the fun times we had. Love ya,

Michelle Karkowitz

Stay cool and above all stay in control

TREVOR You better give a call this summer!

OK. TREVOR
I mean let's face it, ya know I don't like will have to, shall say, get together after graduation. I suppose I owe you one.
you remember you forgot to go to the dance. so I could meet ya after words. If we can't get above after graduation you'll have to come over & we can go somewhere private.

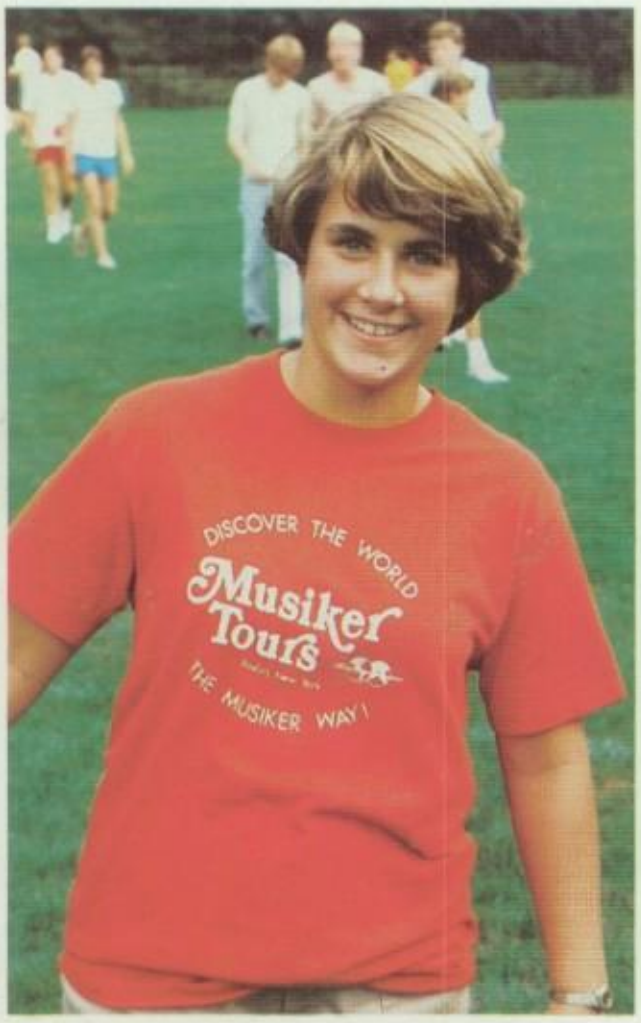
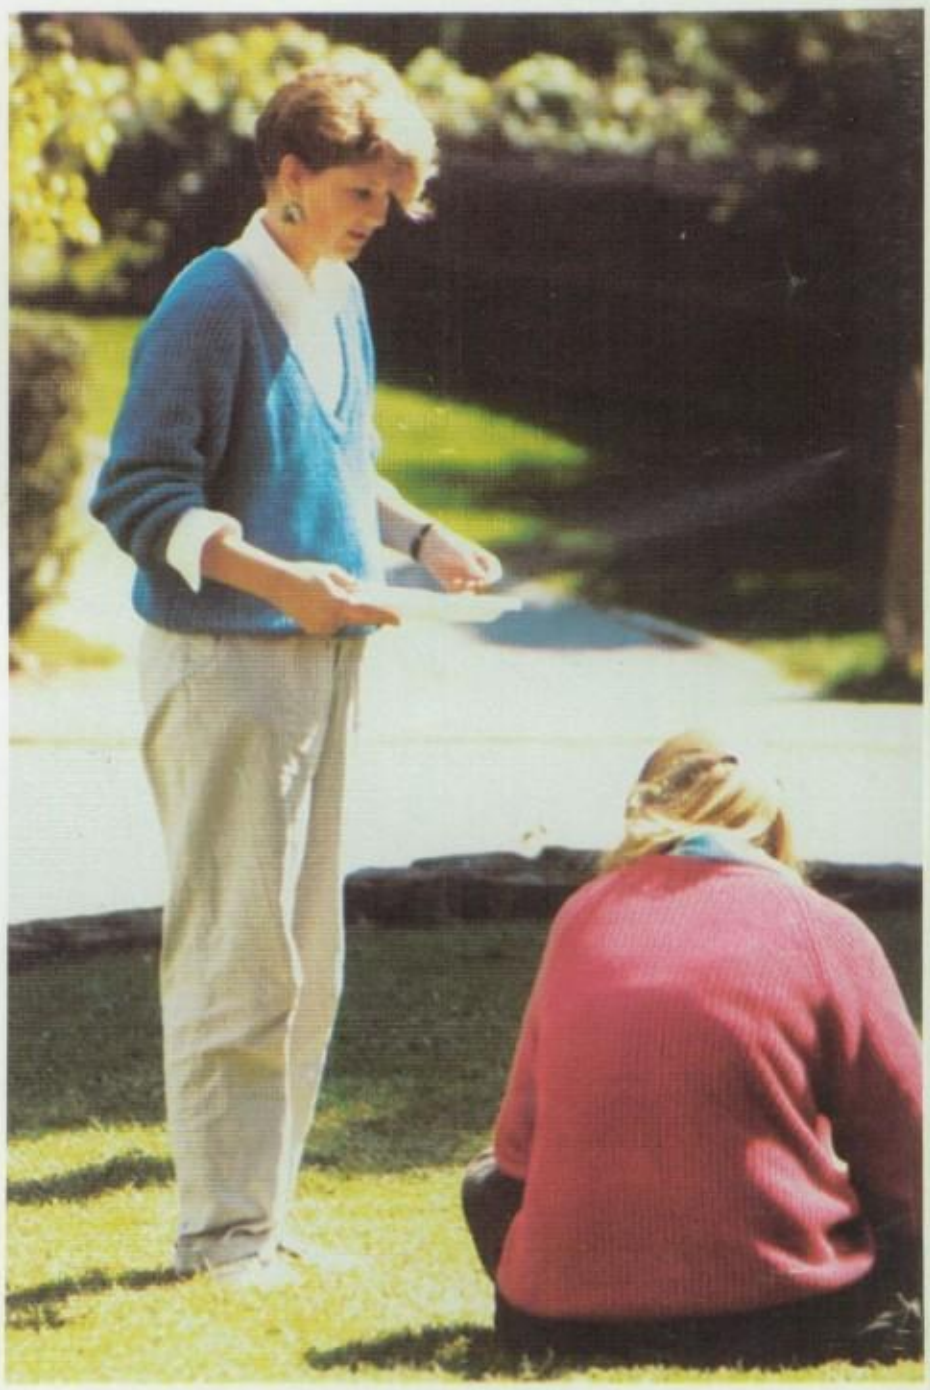
SEWICKLEY ACADEMY YEARBOOK
1985

VOLUME XXIX





A very special aspect of Sewickley Academy is its leaders. Many of the greatest accomplishments and activities that occur here do so becuase of the guidance and patience of their organizers. This year we salute all those who hold any type of leadership position here and thank them for their participation.

Dedication

We dedicate this yearbook to a person who has guided and advised us on the production of this yearbook. Not only is he a fine math teacher in the Senior School but also our faithful adviser. Without his help this yearbook would not be possible. Therefore, we dedicate this yearbook to Mr. Richard Magee.

FACULTY

Our Leader

Dear Class of 1985,

You will always be a very special class to me for two reasons. First, you entered the Senior School at the same time I was fortunate enough to be appointed Headmaster of Sewickley Academy and therefore become part of the Senior School as well. Second, you are the last graduating class in my career as a Headmaster with which I will have had a relationship as a parent. As a result, I am delighted to be able to tell you how rewarding the experience we have shared during these past three years has been for me. As far as I am concerned, you have been a superb class. As individuals you are varied and independent. This has not prevented you from being able to work cooperatively to achieve what you believe needs to be done. Your contributions academically; to our programs in forensics, art, music, and drama; and to our athletic teams have established a standard of accomplishments which will serve as an example for future classes for many years to come. The Academy has clearly benefited from your presence.

There is, however, one request I would make as you move into the next stage of your lives. Never lose the sense of caring and mutual support that is such an important factor in making Sewickley Academy the school it is. You have helped to support that feeling in all sorts of ways and in the process reminded all of us how valuable a quality it is. Wherever you are and no matter what you are doing, I hope that you won't ever stop doing this.

My thanks to each of you for all you have done for the Academy and for making my short time with you such an enjoyable experience. Please don't forget us-we will not forget you.

Sincerely,
Douglas O. McClure
Headmaster

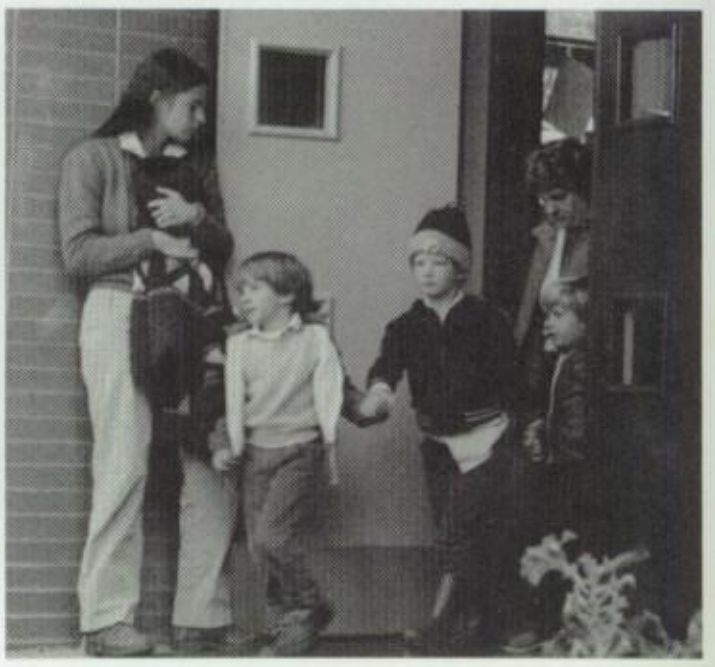
LOWER SCHOOL

We'll Follow Where You Lead

This year the Nursery School children learned about good nutrition, different occupations, and community helpers. They also studied about household pets and zoo animals. In addition, they learned about plants and how they grow. The Nursery School children enjoyed weekly cooking projects, music, and science.



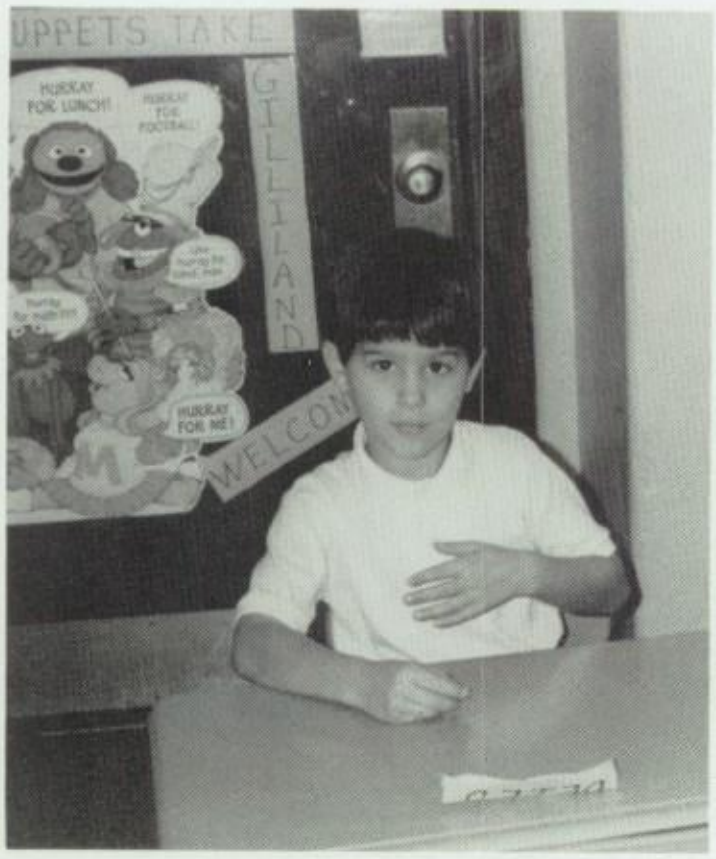
First Row: Ms. Spalding, L. Lynch, S. Smith, J. Gonze, K. Diven, J. Leety, C. Gerard, K. Chesebrough, D. Oliver, Second Row: Z. Effron, M. Meyer, R. Thompson, M. Rafalko, B. Miller, L. Albrecht, A. Pyle, E. Flanagan, T. Beckwith, E. Childs, K. Scotto, S. Norris, Ms. Sipe, Missing: N. Maroney.

This year the Kindergarten enjoyed many activities. These included nature walks, catching insects, and making footprints in plaster. They even voted for President with Reagan winning. At Christmas they made an exciting trip to Old Economy. All year they worked on reading, math, science, art, music, and writing.

Follow The Leader

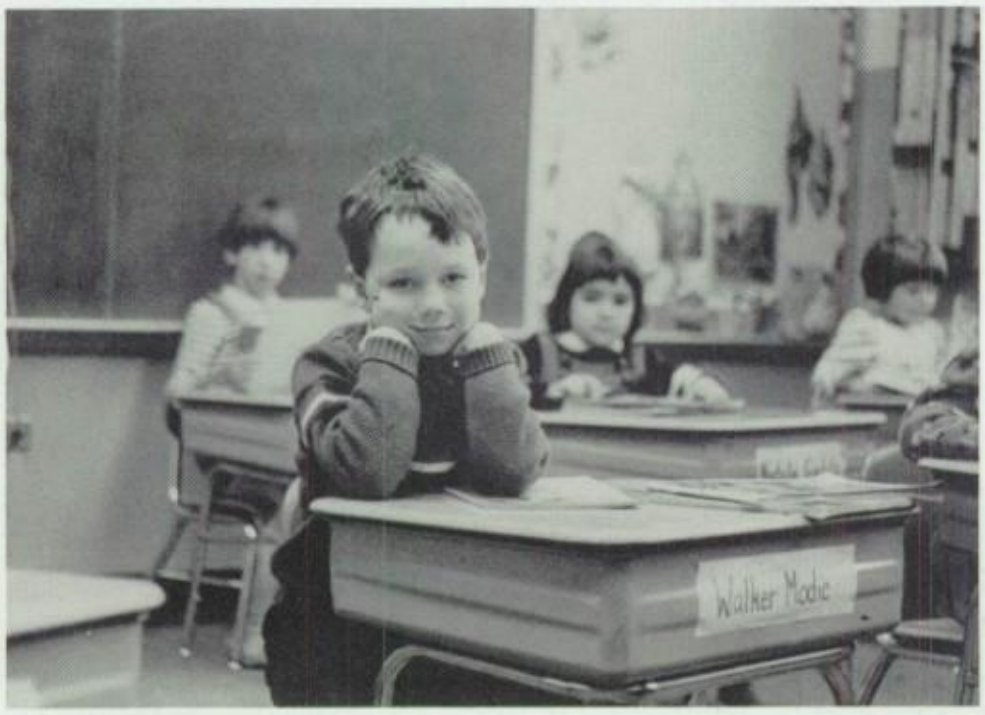
First Row: H. Morrow, D. Leety, F. Catalina, L. Kammerer, J. Cooper, T. Walters, J. Wittemen, T. Howe, J. Smith. Second Row: Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Nagel. Third Row: L. Mitchell, R. Roth, K. Phillips, H. Chesebrough, K. Kavic, G. Fazio, C. Churchill, L. Benz, R. Cassoff, E. Kralik. Missing: J. Nevin, B. Snyder.

Beginning Leaders

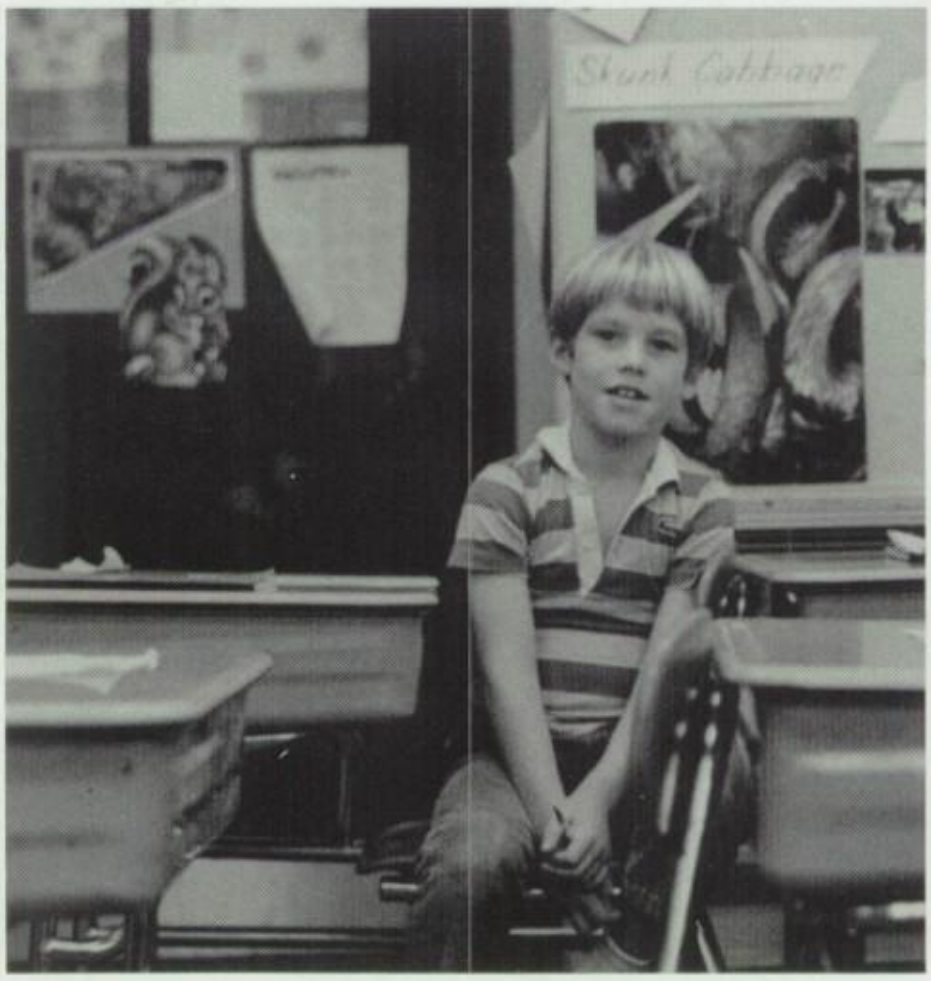


First Row: P. Lacey, A. Hamilton, P. Kavic, G. Hodge, D. Engler, R. Froman, T. Krepitch, A. Bell, A. Smith, H. Tate, R. Varsanik, Second Row: Mrs. Gilliland, Mrs. Willison, J. Decker, K. Rogers, D. Powers.

The First Grade began a new program in creative story writing. Both First Grades met in the library and wrote stories. They noticed very positive effects from this new type of program. The children were uninhibited by the writing without worrying about spelling, capitalization, and punctuation. The stories and pictures were delightful, and parent's responses were positive.



The Second Graders spent the major part of the year working on math and reading. They learned to think more for themselves and gained more responsibility for taking care of their things. They enjoyed Grandparents' Day and learning about science, math, and creative writing.



Following In Your Footsteps

First Row: J. Mayer, A. Thompson, L. Moxley, E. Mader, E. Gilfillan, M. Wickwire, S. Schneider, K. Gonze, J. Nix, M. Gregg, Second Row: S. Adams, J. Clarke, D. Acklin, M. Kathpal, N. Crowley, R. Leading The Way

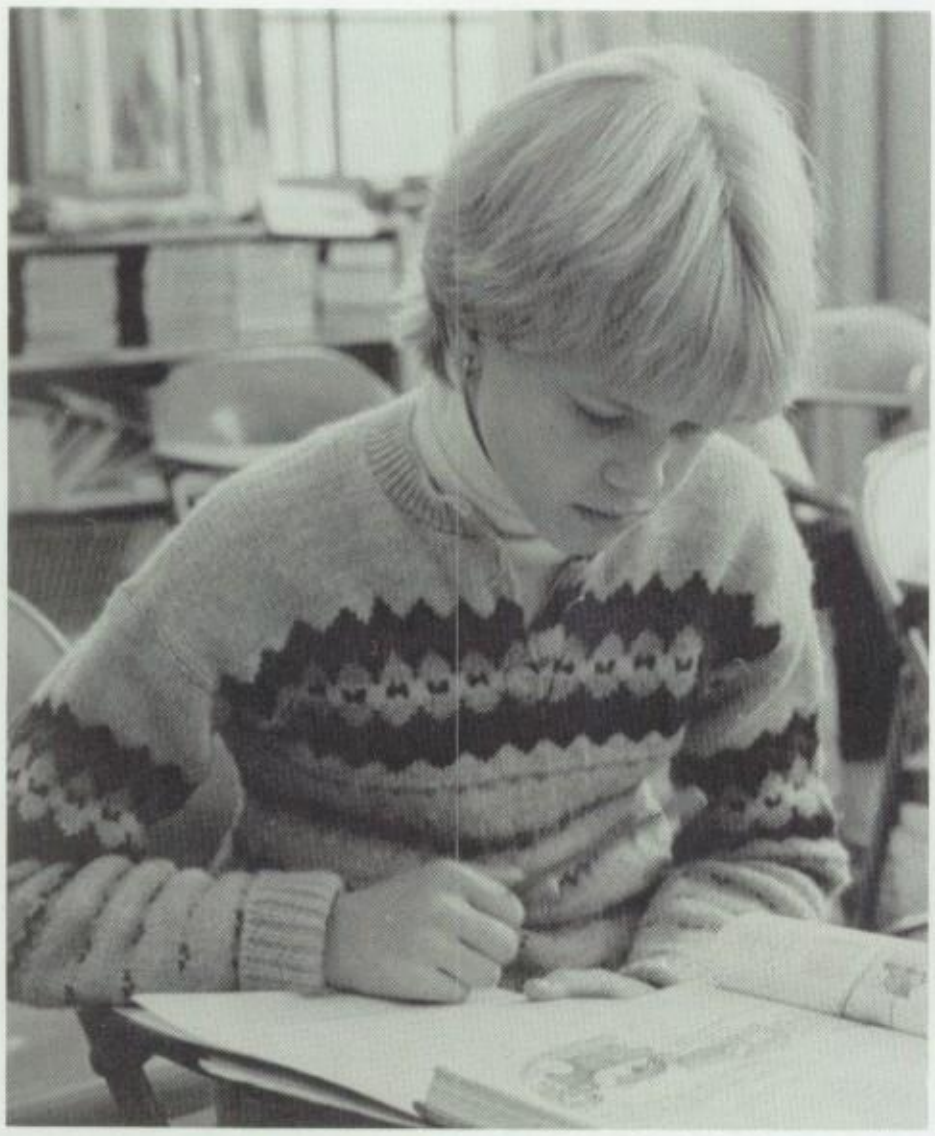
The Fourth Grade had a very challenging and creative year. They enjoyed sessions on the computers and made a program of their own. Thanksgiving and Christmas brought Spanish and French luncheons which tied in with social studies in the classroom. Each day brought new learning experiences and goals were reached.

Faithful Followers

The Fifth Grade had an educational and interesting year. They participated in history simulations that gave them a better understanding of our country's past. A week long trip to McKeever Environmental Center proved very worthwhile and fun. The class also attended a naturalization proceeding. The Fifth Graders look forward to their final year in Lower School.

First Row: W. Billeter, G. Matthews, D. Sadd, D. Rockwell, D. Capra, K. Anderson, S. Leighton, T. Nuttall, G. Sacco, K. Strohmeyer, M. Bowers. Second Row: K. Griffin, B. Stewart, N. Nagel, M. Bell, P. deHaven, B. Strohmeyer, J. Moore, T. O'Malley, N. Powers, S. Desai, C. Mattern. Third Row: Mr. Sadd, L. Van Allen, E. Traupman, M. Pittman, H. Shannonhouse, T. Spanovich, J. Matthews, J. Kathpal, L. Semple, H. Snyder, J. Castelucci, K. Poluha, M. Rogers, A. Ball, B. O'Donnell, M. Shockey, Mr. Smith.



As the oldest group of students in the Lower School, the Sixth Graders were encouraged to develop self-discipline and a sense of responsibility. They enjoyed many field trips including a trip to the symphony. By setting a good example for the other students and coping with increasing amounts of homework, the Sixth Graders prepared themselves for next year's transitions.

Take The Lead

Kneeling: J. Wu, B. Janeway, M. Provost, P. Long, A. Masri, K. Linge, E. Wickwire, A. Johnson, A. Derr, D. Smith, K. Deeley, D. Anton. First Row: B. Batchelor, J. Obrosky, S. Harris, J. ACTIVITIES

Student Leaders

This year the School Council was very active and efficient in representing the student body. One of the council's major accomplishments was the formation of a new school dance policy, whereby students, along with the falculty, supervised their own dances. This system proved to be very successful and the students were in favor of this policy.

The Community Affairs Committe, led by Michelle Davis, had an outstanding year as they participated in various community projects. Their activities included raising money for the D. T. Watson Home by participating in a walk-a-thon, and decorating the Verland Foundation. The members of the committee were very enthusiastic about their accomplishments and hope to achieve ever more next year.

The School Council Activities Committee also had a very successful year. The committee, led by Jane Reynolds and Sandy Hudak, sponsered well organized events such as the annual Bizarre and Extreme Day, and the Talent Show. Throughout the year, the spirit of the club made all the school activities enjoyable and exciting.

The Campus Improvement Committee was very busy performing various tasks about the Academy to improve its appearance. Although the club was short of members, it kept the spirit of the Academy high through beautifying the campus.

The Assembly Committee, under the leadership of Todd Thompson, organized assemblies for the Senior School during the course of the year.

The Discipline Committee, headed by Ehren Jordan and Roswitha Firth, reviewed the student handbook and gave advice as to how it could be improved, as well as other discipline related issues concerning the Senior School.

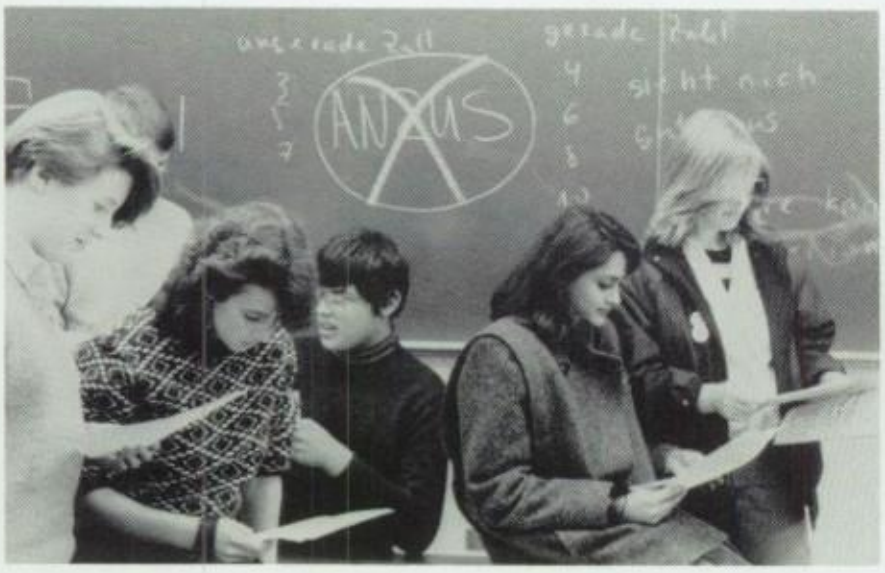
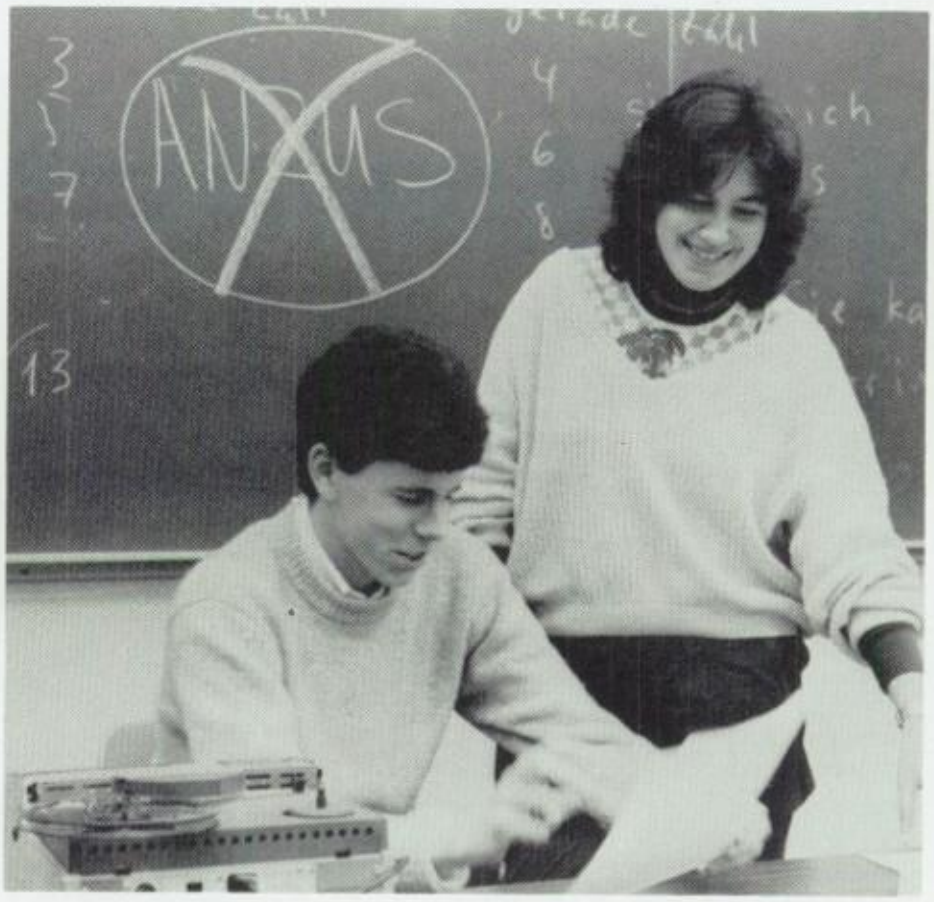
The Leading Events

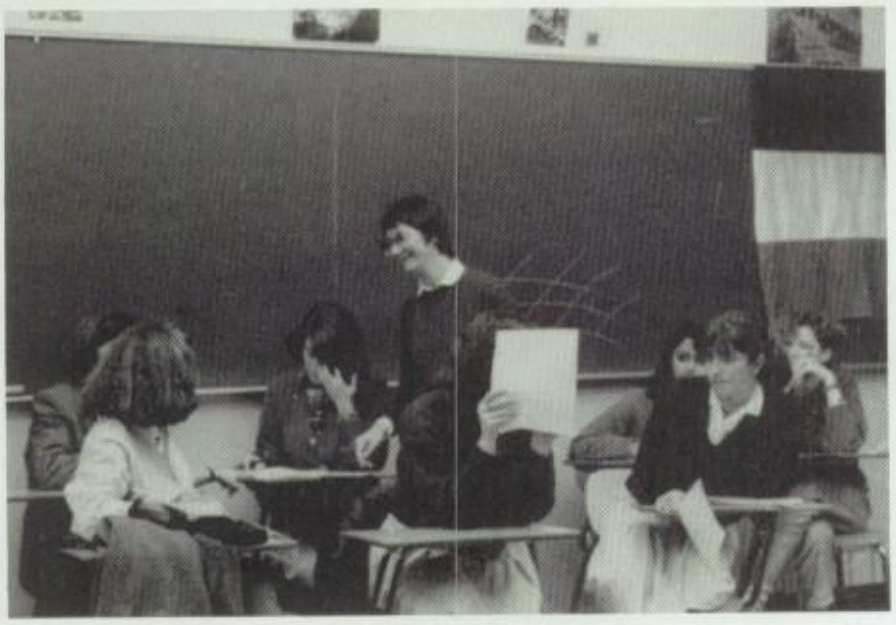
Sewickley Academy's Seventh Pillar encompasses the Lower, Middle, and Senior Schools to investigate the concerns of the entire academy. This year's issues addressed such topics as the proposed architectural changes of the Senior School, the Senior School dance policy, and the school's "Honor Code". Once again, the Seventh Pillar earned its reputation as an outstanding newspaper.

Creative Leadership





Portfolio, the Sewickley Academy Arts Magazine, which came out in May, is a publication of the finest literary, artistic, and photographic works of the Senior School. It is a means in which we can effectively exhibit the talents of those students who display distinctive ability in their writing skills and art work. This was made possible by a dedicated group of editors and staff members who spent much time choosing and editing the various pieces that made this year's issue a success.



Parlez - Vous Francais?

The French Club enjoyed several interesting projects this year. A traditional favorite was the decoration of the Senior School for Christmas. The annual Christmas dinner, held at the home of the president, Paula Hannaway, was also a popular event. Other activities included croissant sales, a French bake sale, and attending a French play.

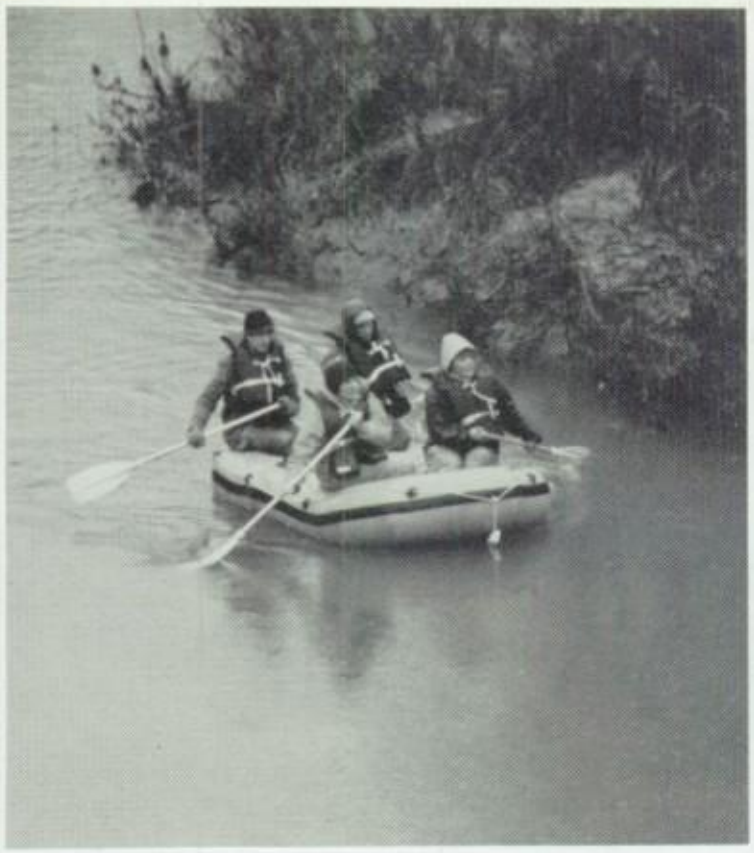
Bonjour, Paris!

In the fall of 1984, Sewickley Academy received a group of fourteen French students and their chaperone, Christine Berujeau, for a three week stay. While in Pittsburgh, they visited such places as the zoo, Fort Ligonier, Kennywood Park, and a Pirates game. The group also travelled to Washington, D.C. for an overnight tour.

In March of 1985, Karen Coleman and Christy Dillon took eighteen Sewickley Academy students to Melun, France, where they stayed with their French correspondants. Besides attending a French lycée, the students spent time sightseeing in Paris, and visiting the châteaux of the Loire and other sights. A highlight of the trip was an overnight visit to Normandy.

Leading The Environmental Cause

Sewickley Academy for Environmental Research (S.A.F.E.R.) is an organization of students interested in the study of the environment through various school and community activities. These included a trip to the Carnegie Museum herbarium to observe plant mounting techniques. S.A.F.E.R. is helping to prepare its own herbarium in conjunction with the museum and the Little Sewickley Creek Watershed Association. School activities involved working with the Nursery School and Kindergarten on natural Christmas trees, as well as an Earth Week celebration involving the entire school.

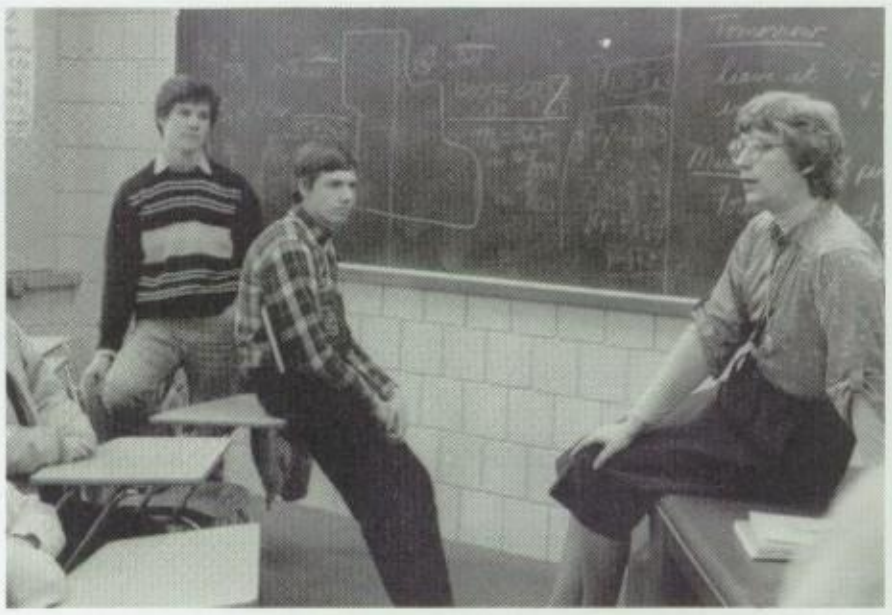


Trailblazers, a student-initiated organization, is a low-impact camping/hiking group. This year various groups went on day-hikes, a winter camping trip, and rafting and canoeing trips. In addition, the club members volunteered their time during the year to a community recycling project. The Trailblazers' love of the outdoors prompted them to make this a very active year.

Leading Us Back To Nature

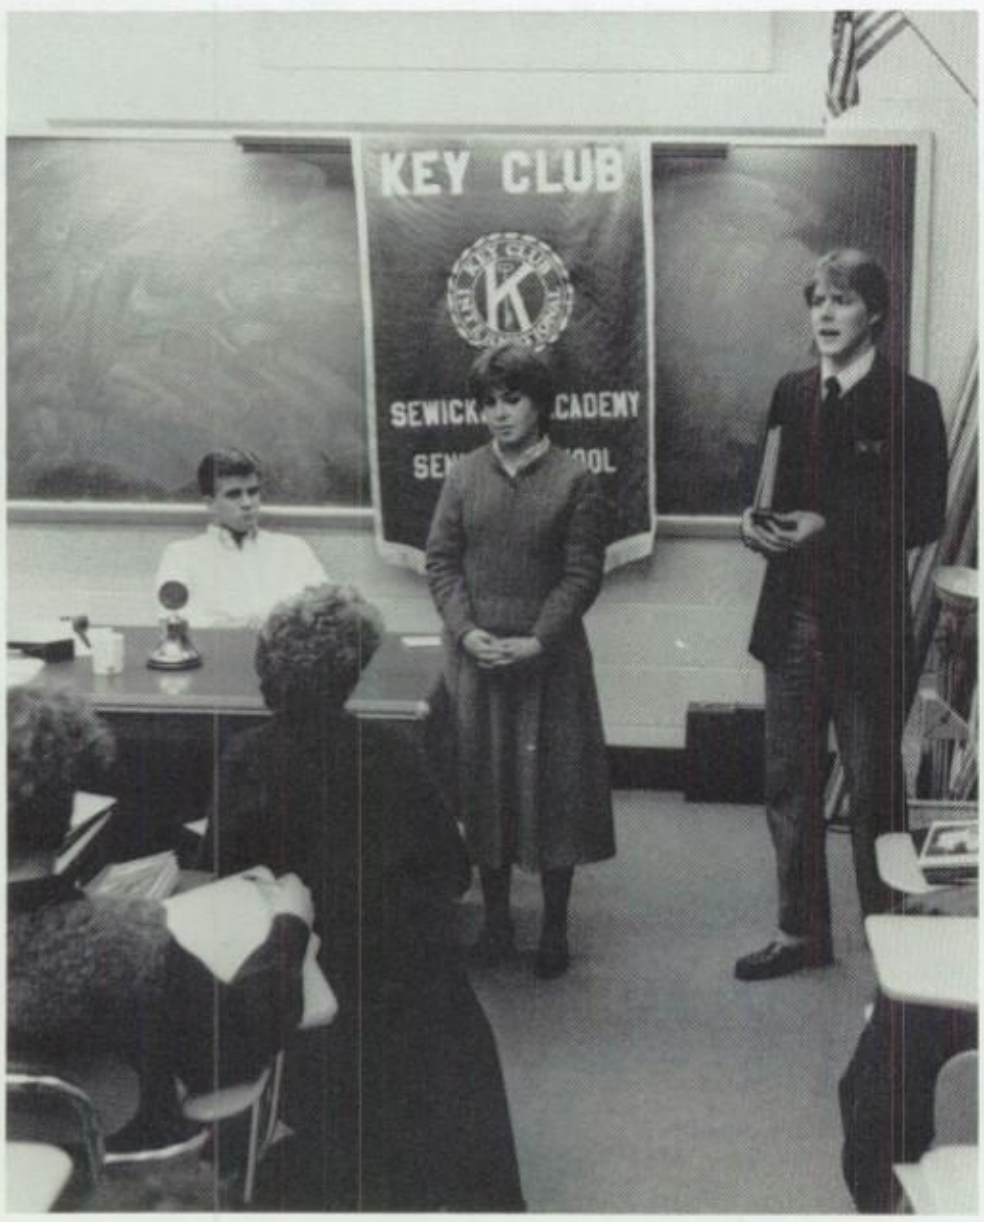
The Leading Speakers

The Forensics Team, under the leadership of Miss Shirley Markel, had one of its most successful years. More students than ever participated in the meets, and several competitors regularly brought home trophies. Gordon Mitchell and Tom Jones did very well in Lincoln-Douglas debate and Paula Hannaway qualified for the state finals in Dramatic Interpretation. Forensics is well on its way to being a leading activity in the Senior School.



Leaders In Service

The Key Club is a community and school service organization that was founded last year. This year, the club received its official charter and increased its membership to over twenty. Activities with the D. T. Watson Home, the Verland Home for the elderly, Valley Care, and the Ambridge Soup Kitchen were among the many charitable functions that the Key Club organized or attended, making it one of the most active Key Clubs in the area.



Keeping Up With The Leaders

Concerned Students for Political Awareness meets at members' homes during the weekends to discuss current events and political issues. Some of the topics they covered this year were immigration, drug trafficking, and personal freedoms. The membership of CSPA increased this year, and it promises to grow even more in the years to come.

Middle School Activities

The staff of The Sweetwater Chronicle.

The Middle School kept busy this year with a variety of clubs and activities. Three issues of the Middle School newspaper, The Sweetwater Chronicle, were published, including a graduation issue. An authentic tea party complete with costumes, was held by the ninth grade literature class to celebrate Dickens' David Copperfield. The newly formed Outdoors Club went on several trips which included hikes, a caving trip, and a weekend skiing trip.

Lead Us In Song

The Senior School Chorus once again provided the Academy with great entertainment. The annual Christmas concert, which included Chambersingers and the band as well, was enjoyed by everyone. One of the year's highlights was a trip to Philadelphia, where they gave several concerts. The chorus also performed at a Sewickley Academy reunion and at several parties. This year even the adults got into the act and organized the Faculty Chorus!

Band Leaders

Under the leadership of Miss Barbara Salak, the Sewickley Academy Band flourished in 1984-5. Growing by leaps and bounds, the band served as a unifying force, including musicians from the Lower, Middle, and Senior Schools. This year they performed in a Christmas concert and accompanied the Senior School chorus for some of their numbers. The dedication and determination of each member of the band was evident in this year's performance.

The Leading Roles

"The Bald Soprano" by Eugene Ionesco is an intriguing play following the Theater of the Absurd. Six Senior School students made up the cast of the play, Fletcher McNeill's first production at Sewickley Academy. The audience and actors found "The Bald Soprano" to be extremely interesting as well as thought-provoking.

This year's grand production, "Oliver," was one of the largest and most successful dramatic efforts ever attempted at Sewickley Academy. The cast combined the talents of Senior School and Lower School students.

The part of Oliver Twist was played by Jed Moore and David Sadd. Alex Ball was "The Artful Dodger." Fagin was played by Andrew Coburn, and the role of Nancy was shared by Paula Hannaway and Sarah Friedman.

The work and talent of the all the actors, Mario Melodia, and the adult volunteers made "Oliver" a delight for everyone who saw it.

Renaissance Week

Renaissance Week, celebrated in the second week of October, was conceived and directed by John and Ann White, along with the rest of the Fine Arts Department. Each of the schools enjoyed Renaissance films, lectures, and art displays throughout the week. The culmination of the festivities was the Renaissance Fair, held at Wardrop Field. Students and faculty, appropriately costumed, paraded down Thorn Street and onto the field, carrying banners of various craft guilds. Everyone participated in the games, music, dance, sports, and craft activities enjoyed during the Renaissance period. Renaissance Week was a huge success for Sewickley Academy!

Mr. P.---A Leader Since 1957

We wish a fond farewell to Stanwood W. Partenheimer, a man who, for the past 27 years, has been an example of all of the principles that he taught. He was not only a teacher and coach but also a friend. He offered encouragement to all. We wish you well in your retirement and hope that you will be able to achieve the goals that you put in your first yearbook namely "to be a millionaire and travel."

RYAN HOMES CONGRATULATES THE CLASS OF

1985

Tradition means many things to us... and to you.

You have just completed some of the most important years of your life. The friendships developed. The knowledge acquired. And the maturity gained in completing your high school years becomes the foundation for your future.

At Ryan, home building has been a tradition since 1948. For more than 30 years we've built quality homes and that's something we're proud of. Because we've been able to help a lot of people find their future, and keep the tradition of American homeownership alive.

We wish you success and good fortune in the years to come.

What-Only 160 more pages to go?

And just WHAT are you doing Valerie?

Amidst such dilemas as Snow Days, Mid-Terms, corrosive water leaks, and numerous deadly deadlines; the Yearbook was, somehow, accomplished. Despite the late days in the terribly hot, quickly deteriorating plot of basement called the Yearbook Room, the staff agreed that it has been a fun and extremely rewarding experience.

You're writing What?

Hey Sue, you're right- the floor IS sinking!!

1984 The Year In Review

The year 1984 began with Orwellian predictions of a world consumed in "doublethink" and "newspeak" as George Orwell's book sold more copies in one year than it had totalled since publication in 1949. Of the eight democratic presidential candidates, Walter Mondale won the party's nomination. His runningmate Geraldine Ferraro made history as the first woman to run for Vice President. Jesse Jackson spent the year on the road from Cuba to Syria. The slogan, "America is back, standing tall" rallied Ronald Reagan back to office after he won 58% of the votes in 49 states. Yuri Andropov died leaving the Politburo with successor Constantin Chernenko.

Disaster seemed to drape the world. Indira Gandhi, Prime Minister of India, was killed by her own Sikh guards. Her son Rajiv was named the new leader. A second tragedy occurred at the Union Carbide chemical plant in Bhopal when a cloud of deadly gas leaked killing 2000. Famine spread in Ethiopia, Chad, and other parts of Africa. Europe and the U. S. responded with many relief campaigns. Bandaid, a group of Europe's most famous rock musicians, recorded a single for the cause and donated all profits to Ethiopia.

Bruce Springsteen, Prince, and Kenny Rogers donated time and money to the hungry in this country. The American economy slowed down. Across the country the unemployement rate decreased, but Pittsburgh lagged behind. America welcomed home the Vietnam veteran with a bronze memorial in Washington D. C. The final withdrawl of U. S. Marine peacekeeping forces in Lebanon was a solemn homecoming. Nuclear war, prayer in school, and abortion were the concerns of the times. Yuppies (young urban professionals) raced up the ladders of upward mobility. VCRs challenged cable TV in the entertainment arena. The Macintosh defined the term "mouse" for the computer-literate generation. Technology went east. China's first citizen bought a truck. The U. S. S. R. became interested in importing personal computers.

Baby Fae lived for 43 days. aided by a baboon's heart. Dr. DeVries performed another artificial heart transplant. His patient William Schroeder uttered the immortal words, "I'd like a beer" only 36 hours after surgery. The crew of the Space Shuttle Discovery retrieved two lost satellites. Bruce McCandless was the first astronaut to soar through space untethered.

Catch-phrases of the year included Clara Peller's unforgetable, "Where's the Beef?" and iron-faced Clint Eastwood's "Go ahead, make my day." "Gremlins" and "Purple Rain" became box office smashes. Farmlife was a popular topic in Hollywood. Eddy Murphy's "Beverly Hill's Cop" grossed $100 million in five weeks. Michael Jackson's 20-city Victory Tour made over $90 million. Losses in the entertainment world included the deaths of Andy Kaufman and Count Basie. The first black Miss America, Vanessa Williams returned her crown after a scandal over nude photographs. The birth of Prince William's brother, Harry caused proud father Prince Charles to exclaim, "We've nearly got a polo team!" Fans of Doonesbury welcomed the strip back to the comic pages.

1984 was a year of winners. Bishop Desmond Tutu won the Nobel Peace Prize for his work on apartheid. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar set the scoring record in basketball with his 31,421st point. Doug Flutie won the Heisman Trophy for his incredible passes. 83 Americans won gold medals at the XXIII Summer Olympiad in Los Angeles. Carl Lewis' graceful sprints, Mary Lou Retton's perfect vaults, and Greg Louganis' splashless dives helped set the record for American medal-winners. The most memorable sounds of the year were the chants of "U – S – A, U – S – A" at the closing ceremonies.

In Memoriam

Fifth grader Gabriel Sacco collapsed suddenly after school on Tuesday, February 26, during a tap-dance class in the cafeteria. All efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Gabe lived in Ambridge with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Sacco, and his sister Anna, who is a 1982 Sewickley Academy graduate. He had attended the Academy since Nursery School.

Gabe's teachers remember him as "a little character who loved to tell jokes," "warm, friendly, always said 'hello'," and "a friend to everyone." According to Gilbert Smith, his homeroom teacher, science was Gabe's favorite subject. Dance and drama were also special interests of his.

Gabe was a colorful little boy, loved by everyone who knew him. His death has left a huge hole in the Sewickley Academy that can never be filled. Gabe will always be remembered fondly by his teachers and friends.

Hey Trevor
I hope you had a great year ever though you didn't play catcher for the baseball team.
It doesn't matter though because the one lacrosse game I saw you look as if you were the best on the field Hope you have a great summer. See you next year.

Daver

Queeb, I Love you!! But I'M not a FAG.

Trevor-
I can't believe it is the end of the year already I'm very depressed that I have to actually say goodbye to you as a good friend & classmate. I've been very fortunate to have a great Year. I wish you the best of luck in the future
Have a great time at Pompret
When you go to Red Chicken
Kentucky Think of me!
Luv-Cara

Trevor -
This year has been pretty fun, don't you think? I'm glad we had geometry together. That was fun. I'm glad you're not going to boarding sch

Trevor:

Thanks a lot for adjusting me to the 9th grade. You helped me a lot and I'm really glad I met you. One of these days I'll learn how to write a better yearbook entry. (I liked your message) until then,

George

Trevor,

Thanks for an interesting 9th grade. We've had lots of fun playing Trafalga & Leroy in drama. And I'm glad to hear your ~~sister~~ not going boarding school.
